

RenCom, a company in the lignin valorisation business, is now investing in a demonstration facility near Arlanda, Stockholm. The production capacity is 2000 tonnes of derivatized lignin (Renol) per year.

Renol is a wood-based polymer designed for biofilms and other materials to replace plastics. Renol is a functional material with very low carbon footprint.